VINTAGE CONDITIONS

Chile’s Mediterranean climate combines the warm, dry summers and cold, rainy winters that are ideal for growing wine grapes. The country’s unusual geography gives the perfect balance between cool sea breezes from the Pacific and protection from the coastal and Andes mountain ranges. Deep, well drained alluvial soils in the valleys are ideal for producing intensely flavoured grapes with fresh natural acidity.

The 2017 vintage started rather slowly, maintaining stable levels of precipitation and temperatures, giving tranquility to the formation of fruits. There was no water stress and in summer there were averages above 27 degrees but without greater pick, which gave a calm and balanced maturity, even though it was faster than other years. The harvest was advanced in at least 2 weeks achieving very healthy fruit but with somewhat lower yields with concentrated tannins and flavors, resulting in much more expressive and elegant wines.
